RED ARMY REPORTED CLOSING IN STEADILY ON KHARKOV

Pennsylvania Voters Ready to Go to Polls on Tuesday

Nazis Hurl Huge Force Into Battle To Halt Russians

BY HENRY C. CASSIDY
Moscow, May 18.—(P)—With the Red army closing in steadily on Kharkov, battlefield dispatches reported today that the Germans were hurling flying wedges of tanks and trailer-carried troops to death traps in the Russian lines in a desperate attempt to break up the offensive now in its seventh day.

Pravda reported that these Nazi counter-attacks on wheels and tanks, as well as mass German parachute landings of as many as 20 troops at a time, had failed to check the impetus of the Russian thrust.

Already that drive has gained 12 to 37 miles over blood-stained battlefields littered with the bodies of 10,000 German dead and the wreckage of war materials hard to reckon. The Russians announced officially.

British military sources said Marshal Timoshenko's armies were advancing on a 100-mile front extending in an arc from Volchansk, 12 miles northwest of Khar'kov, to Krasnograd, 60 miles southwest of Khar'kov. These sources said that, although stiffened German resistance undoubtedly had slowed the Russian push in some places, it had been stopped nowhere.

Pravda reported that the Germans were using—and losing—tanks in constantly increasing numbers in an attempt to save Khar'kov and safeguard the vulnerable southern flank.

The Communist party organ said that in a single attack 150 tanks and armored trailers loaded with troops were hurled against Russian lines in an attempt to break through to a besieged Nazi position.

When the first attack was stopped, the Germans followed up with others during the same day, Pravda said. It reported that 18 tanks were destroyed in the first attack and 43 in the others, and that where wedges were driven into the Russian lines they were smashed by intense anti-tank fire.

At mid-day today, the regular Soviet communiqué reported that Soviet soldiers fought stiff engagements "in areas of the town of Khar'kov."

(This indicated that the Russians still held part of the Crimean city. However, a British military commentator in London said that the Germans were in complete possession of the Kerch peninsula, except for Russians holding isolated positions.)

German attacks on the Kalinin front—the general area northwest of Moscow—were beaten back with heavy losses, the communiqué said.

Yesterday's fliers ran into their first real opposition in several weeks, hundreds of fighters battling for control of the sky over northern France. At least nine German planes and eight British were reported destroyed.

Meanwhile, the air ministry said that as a result of the pulverizing British raids last month on the German Baltic city of Rostock there had been a "complete stoppage of all war supplies."

Three men were injured yesterday in the crash of a cabin plane five miles west of Albion, Erie county. The injured, all residents of Albion, were Earl Orr, 23, fractured jaw and ankle; James Wood, back injuries; and Robert Norr, 21, back injuries. Their condition was described as "fair to good" at an Erie hospital today.

The three, who had rented the plane at the Erie county airport, were flying low near Albion when the plane suddenly dived into a tailspin and crashed near German's Corners. Farmers removed the injured from the ship. The Civil Aeronautics Authority began an investigation of the accident.

Death Claims Congressman At Scranton

Representative Patrick J. Boland Dies of Heart Attack Today

WAS DEMOCRATIC WHIP

Scranton, May 18.—U. S. Representative Patrick J. Boland, Democratic whip in the house, died of a heart attack at his home today on the eve of Pennsylvania's primary election at which he was seeking renomination for a seventh term.

The 62-year-old legislator, a close friend to President Roosevelt, returned to Scranton from Washington Saturday and spoke last night over a local radio station in the interest of his campaign.

Friends who played cards with him after the broadcast said he was in jovial spirits. He was stricken at 5 a. m. today and died before a physician arrived.

A native of Scranton, Rep. Boland had set a record for service from Pennsylvania's 11th congressional district—predominantly Republican—before he first sought election to congress in 1930.

He was appointed Democratic whip in his second term. He had a great capacity for work, a fact that was recognized by all the speakers under whom he served—Byrnes, Bankhead and Rayburn. Frequently his predictions on the outcome of critical legislation were astonishingly accurate.

Boland was a contender for his party's leadership in the house in 1940 but yielded in favor of Rep. McCormack of Massachusetts before nominations were formally made.

One of the most spectacular contests for reelection was in 1936, when he was personally opposed by the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin because he had refused to support

MARCH LEVEL IS FIXED FOR PRICE FREEZE

Living Cost Expected To Drop Slightly As a Result of New Order

FIVE TESTS SUGGESTED

Washington, May 18.—(P)—The clock of rising prices was marked back to March today and halted.

From now on, no retail merchant may charge more for consumer products than the highest price in March. While the price control order was not expected to result in any startling reductions, economists figured that the average drop in the cost of living would be about 1½ percent.

As a guide to the nearly 2,000,000 American retailers affected, the Office of Price Administration has begun distributing a "shopkeepers' bible," entitled "What Every Retailer Should Know About the General Maximum Price Regulation."

In telling the retailer what to do, the OPA bulletin likewise lets the customer know what to expect on the counters of the corner grocery or the big department store.

Five tests are prescribed by OPA by which the retailers may determine his maximum selling price under the universal ceiling.

The first basic rule requires the retailer to take as his ceiling the highest price at which he delivered a specified article in March. The key factor is the actual delivery during March, rather than the making of a sale in that month.

The second rule covers a retailer who offered an article for sale in March but made no deliveries. His ceiling will be the highest offering price—the price marked on the article itself or on the shelves or racks where it was displayed for sale.

Third, for an article neither delivered nor offered for sale in March, the ceiling is the highest price of the "similar article most nearly like it" delivered or offered for delivery during March.

Fourth, if none of the first three rules apply, the retailer must fix the price of his article "not higher than the highest March price of the most closely competitive retailer of the same class for the same article" or the article most nearly like it.

Fifth, if none of the four previous rules apply, the retailer must fix the price at the level of the "similar article most nearly like it" delivered or offered for delivery during March.

OLDEST A. M. PAPER QUILTS PUBLICATION

New Bedford, Mass., May 18.—(P)—The 135-year-old Morning Mercury one of the oldest daily morning newspapers in the nation, discontinued publication today.

A page one announcement by Basil Brewer, publisher, said: "Rising costs, dwindling circulation and war restrictions make its publication no longer practical. Today's is the final issue."

Brewer is also publisher of New Bedford's Standard-Times, an afternoon newspaper, and the Sunday Times, both of which continue publication.

Washington, May 18.—(P)—The senate appropriations committee recommended today a $199,740,000 program, involving the proposed development of 164 new airports and improvement of 266 existing fields.

Also included were funds to complete certain landing fields in Alaska and to provide the army ferrying command with new landing fields in the United States.

The airport program accounted for the bulk of $204,625,135 net increase proposed by the committee in the annual appropriation bill for the departments of state, justice and commerce and the federal judiciary for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

As reported to the senate by the committee the bill carried appropriations totalling $425,703,235, compared with $221,078,000 voted by the house and $271,602,115 appropriated for the current year.

In addition to the landing fields funds the committee voted $2,675,000 for establishment of air navigation facilities and $619,600 for certain airport paving development projects.

These increases were made in the appropriation for the administration of civil aeronautics and airports.

American Newspapermen Tell Conditions in Axis Countries

Out of the black night which lies over Germany and Italy come the first adequate and entirely dependable analysis of enemy morale since the Axis declaration of war on the United States: The stories of the American correspondents who have been interned in the Third Reich and in that German province which lies south of the Brenner Pass.

Walls did not make a prison make for these reporters, for even with their limited contacts with their keepers, they were able to keep a sensitive finger on the pulse of the peoples with whom they were working. Their reports, now reaching Americans from neutral Portugal, are of the utmost importance to every United States citizen.

They are required reading for anyone who wants to get a clear picture of the nature and magnitude of our own task in winning the victory.

First of all, these stories are excellent sedatives for wistful thinkers, for they are careful to point out the folly of expecting riot and rebellion in nations where the Gestapo pistol is close to every head.

Paradoxically the stories are powerful arguments for the speedy creation of a fighting front in western Europe, for they make it very plain that the day of silent apathy and hopelessness among the German and Italian people is (Turn to Page Nine)

Governor James Is Honored By College

Gettysburg, May 18.—(P)—Governor James today received the honorary degree of doctor of laws and letters at the 110th commencement of Gettysburg College.

These other degrees were conferred: Doctor of divinity, Harold Luther Creager, Waterloo, Ont.; Harry H. Wellman, Washington, D. C.; Henry Manken, Jr., Lebanon; F. Eppinger Reinartz, Philadelphia; William R. Sammel, York; and Herbert H. Hartman, Baltimore; doctor of science, Millard E. Gladfelter, vice president of Temple University, and James S. LIBYA FRONT IS SCENE OF MINOR ACTION

The Libyan front showed new life today, although the action was still of a minor sort. The British command at Cairo said that small groups of Axis tanks and other vehicles were engaged and dispersed in one sector, while "brisk patrol activity continues in other sectors."

Italy reported "normal patrol and artillery activity" in Libya and declared that five British planes were downed in combat and six fired against by strafing in an Axis fighter sweep over the British fortress island of Malta, in the Mediterranean, just off Sicily.

The RAF command at Cairo reported that eight more Axis planes were downed over Malta Saturday night and Sunday.

The most active theatre of war in the Far Pacific, the tangled Burma battle zone, produced Chinese claims today that the enemy had been pushed in the China frontier region and a Tokyo claim that on the other side of Burma Japanese forces were within four miles of India's border.

A Tokyo broadcast said that Japanese pursuit of the British and Chinese forces still in Burma continued relentlessly.

The fighting retreat of the British imperials through Burma toward India was credited with providing forces in India five months to prepare for a Japanese attempt at invasion of that vast sub-continent.

The Monsoon in Burma may advantageously enlarge that defensive advantage.

Further to hamper Japanese efforts in this direction, the growing British-American air power in India bombed Kalewa, 140 miles northwest of Mandalay where the Japanese, unopposed, had seized footholds on the Chindwin river.

The air war on the invasion approaches to Australia resulted over the weekend in destruction of 10 Japanese planes in New Guinea and the neighboring Louisiade islands. Nine were destroyed in three swift assaults on the air-drome at Lae, New Guinea, on Saturday.

The prospects of another naval battle in the Coral Sea were pointed out today.

Oil and Gas Shortage Along Atlantic Seaboard Discussed

Washington, May 18.—(P)—Congressional leaders talked with President Roosevelt today about the oil and gasoline shortage along the Atlantic seaboard and there would be an investigation at once of the possibility of constructing a pipe line or lines to relieve it.

Senator Barkley (D-Ky.), the majority leader, said there was a discussion of using some idle pipe lines that could be taken up and laid elsewhere. There might be as many as two lines, he said, perhaps connecting Texas or Oklahoma fields with Florida, or the Ohio river or other eastern spot "where we can get transportation into the northeast section."

But the location, he asserted, is a detail that must await a decision following a survey by government agencies, such as the interior department, the War Production Board, and perhaps the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Barkley said he did not know how much pipeline would cost and added that any congressional action would be delayed until the investigation was made by government agencies.

Secretary of the Interior Ickes has advocated construction of a pipeline from Texas but the huge amount of steel that would be required resulted in the War Production Board frowning on the project.

Barkley indicated that the gasoline situation was the principal topic of conversation when he, Vice President Wallace, Speaker Rayburn, and House Majority Leader McCormack (D-Mass.) had their regular weekly conference with President Roosevelt.

RATIONING OF GAS EXPECTED TO CUT VOTE

Party Leaders Predicting About One-Fourth of Those Registered To Ballot

CANDIDATES CONFIDENT

BY JOHN B. CAMPBELL
Philadelphia, May 18.—(P)—Pennsylvania will be a testing ground for the nation Tuesday to determine whether political party workers can get out the vote despite gasoline rationing.

In the nation-affected counties in the southeastern part of the state, where few if any automobiles will carry voters to the polls tomorrow for primary balloting. In 25 western counties exempt from fuel rationing, however, it will be free rides to the polls as usual.

Even before detailed rationing plans were announced, party leaders had forecast a light vote by the war-minded electorate.

Republican State Chairman James F. Tamm predicted only 25 to 35 per cent of the state's 2,604,734 registered voters will cast ballots. Democratic Chairman Meredith Meyers, titular leader of 1,973,137 registered Democrats, said Tamm's estimate applied to the Democratic vote as well.

Both expected war jobs and army duty to cut deeply into the balloting, which starts at 7 a. m. eastern war time, and ends at 8 p. m.

County election boards reported only a few requests for military ballots from thousands of Pennsylvanians in the armed forces.

Adding to the difficulty of getting out the vote were war-time restrictions on the sale of gasoline. Party workers for many years have used automobiles to get voters to the polls.

Candidates, meanwhile, concentrated on last-minute appeals for support and all expressed confidence they would win. Seeking the gubernatorial nomination are two Republicans, Major General Edward Martin and U. S. Senator James J. Davis, and four Democrats, Judge Ralph H. Smith, Dr. Luther A. Harr, Auditor General F. Clair Ross and Attorney James J. Regan.

Also at stake are nominations for 33 congressmen, 208 state representatives and 1,000 members of the legislature.

Report Drop In Motoring

Philadelphia, May 18.—(P)—Travel on Pennsylvania's highways during the first weekend under gasoline rationing dropped more than 50 per cent, the regional Office of Price Administration announced today.

Although a spokesman said motorists were showing "fine cooperation" in most cases, the OPA's state-wide drive against chiselers disclosed that much of the weekend driving involved motorists with cards to which they are not entitled.

In Philadelphia, where the investigation has centered, the period in which illegally held X and B cards may be exchanged for new coupons will end at 5 p. m. tomorrow. The OPA said rationing boards in other counties were expected to fix a similar deadline.

Investigators said many of the 3,000 east-bound motorists stopped on the two Delaware river bridges over the weekend were using X and B cards for pleasure driving.

Light Vote Is Predicted In Warren County On Tuesday

One of the quietest primary campaigns in recent years will come to a close when voters go to the polls tomorrow. In Warren county the general expectation is for a very light vote, despite the fact that nominations are to be made for important state and district offices. Although considerable work has been done by some of the candidates and their friends, it is doubtful if half the registered vote will be represented at the polls.

The registration in Warren county is as follows: Republican, 12,663; Democratic, 5,101; others, 434. In addition to the state and district offices both the Republican and Democratic parties will elect county committeemen but few contests exist in either group.

Polls will open at seven a. m. and will close at eight p. m. With two exceptions polling places will be in the same locations as for the general election last fall. Changes were made in the Second ward, where voters will go to the Y. W. C. A. activities building, and in the ninth where a room in the Lacy school building will be used as a voting place.

Supporters of the various candidates have been pressing their efforts to get out a sizeable vote, and it is expected that in some instances free transportation will be provided.

The Times-Mirror will receive returns as usual, and the cooperation of officials in all the districts is solicited in order that the results may be compiled as early as possible. The Associated Press wire will also be open during the evening.

Open Centennial Celebration At 1st Lutheran Church Here

Opening of the centennial celebration in First Lutheran church attracted to its three Sunday services the largest numbers in some years, a fine inaugural of the week of events planned to mark the milestone.

Next on the schedule is the historical program and reception to be held at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday, with Rev. Carl Bartsch, son of the parish, coming from Minneapolis, Minn., to be the speaker and Ernest C. Miller presenting a resume of the parish's history. The choir will sing and, afterward, all will be given opportunity to greet the visitors. Mrs. W. E. Yeager, in charge of arrangements, is being assisted by a large group of church women.

Preaching at the early morning communion service Sunday was Rev. Karl Peterson, of Evansville, Ind., who is the guest of his mother, Mrs. Nettie Peterson, Crescent Park. At the 11 a. m. worship and communion period, the speaker was Dr. Abraham M. Markley, of Collegeville, Pa., pastor here from 1895 to 1903. Greetings were also extended by Dr. George Gongaware, of Charleston, S. C., a former pastor, who, with Dr. Markley, is being entertained at the home of Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Frantz, Pennsylvania avenue, east. All three of these men spoke briefly during the Sunday school period, also.

Last evening, several former chorists and others augmented the regular choir, directed by Mrs. Yeager and accompanied by Mrs. Nicholas Andersen, for a beautiful presentation of Gaul's loved oratorio "The Holy City."

Members of St. Paul's Lutheran church were especially invited guests and Pastor Bertil Edquist, assisting Pastor Edward K. Rogers, presented to First church two beautiful Christian and American flags as a token of the esteem of his congregation. In return, First church presented to St. Paul's parish a framed copy of Rembrandt's St. Paul.

In conjunction with the Tuesday night service, there will be a display of pictures and other items of the church history, arranged in the parish house and accompanied by souvenir booklets and postcard pictures of the church which may be purchased for small sums.

Dr. Gongaware will be the special speaker for Wednesday night's vesper service, to which all are invited.

Pastor Rogers announces today that the capacity of 350 has been reached for the confirmations banquet at the Y. W. C. A. Thursday night and that no more reservations will be accepted. Those who have reservations may secure their tickets at the church Tuesday and Wednesday evenings as well as at the activities building on Thursday evening.

Prominent Resident Of Garland Dies

Charles R. Moore, well known resident of Garland, passed away at his home Saturday afternoon about two o'clock, following an illness of about fourteen hours. He was born September 21, 1873, and with the exception of brief periods when business interests required his presence at other places, he had spent his entire life in the community. His major business activity was the management of the Moore farm, known as one of the best in the entire section. He also was engaged in a number of other enterprises.

Mr. Moore is survived by his wife and the following children: Charles W. and Robert B. Moore, both at home; Mrs. Carl D. Peterson, and Mrs. Homer Servoss, both of Jamestown, N. Y.; Mrs. William Harris, Somerset. He is also survived by four grandchildren and a brother, Joseph B. Moore, of Ellamoor, W. Va. He was a life member of the Warren Lodge of Elks and was also affiliated with the Conewago Club.

Services will be held from the home Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock, with Rev. E. P. Wroth, of Trinity Memorial Episcopal church, officiating. Interment will be in the Presbyterian cemetery at Garland. Friends may call at the home.

First Concert Of Shop Band Well Received

The first outdoor concert of the Struthers-Wells band attracted a fairly large crowd at the west side playgrounds Friday evening, despite the threatening weather. The program followed a softball game between the Struthers-Wells team and a team representing the Sheffield Glass Bottle works, which ended in a victory for the Warren players by a score of 9 to 4.

Three War Savings bonds were awarded during the evening to the following: Frank Scarcello, Sheffield, $100; Pete Juliano, Warren, $50; Esther Kleffer, Warren, $25. The judges in charge of the distribution were Mrs. Mary Mac Corah, J. N. Gray and Paul Ristau.

The band made a fine appearance in new uniforms and the concert was enthusiastically received by the crowd. It was announced that on the next public appearance, Memorial Day, the band will participate in the parade complete with color guards, drum major and majorettes.

During the evening Sam Berarde was introduced as bugler for the band and it was also announced that Mr. Berarde was the originator of the idea of forming a band in the plant, which accomplishment was realized mainly through his enthusiastic promotion and untiring organization work.

Esso Employees Hold Enjoyable Meeting

About 100 employees and their ladies attended the annual northwestern branch meeting of the Standard Oil Company of Pennsylvania, held at the North Warren Community House last Wednesday evening, enjoying a dinner served by the ladies of the community house, and dancing later in the evening.

Jerry McCune's orchestra provided music for the dancing party, which concluded the event after several brief addresses were made by executives present from Philadelphia and Erie.

The rubber situation was thoroughly explained to employees, as well as facts about the patents exchanged between the Standard Oil Company and a German concern, a subject which caused much controversy recently.

Final Examinations Tuesday For Auxiliary Fire School; Completed Work Is Outlined

The training school which has been conducted each week in the local armory for members of the auxiliary fire service of the local civilian defense unit has completed the course of lessons and tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock the members of the class will assemble in the study hall of the Warren High School to take examinations required to qualify for official arm-bands and identification.

This school has been conducted as a part of the training program for civilians in Civilian Defense and is sponsored by the State and County Councils of Defense. Fire Lieutenant Edward R. Springer, Lt. Victor VerMilyea, C. W. S., and Fire Chief Douglas G. Kropf were the instructors for the course in fire-fighting.

The school opened March 10th with a total enrollment of 136 persons for firemen's training. Included in this enrollment were the fire squads from 15 local manufacturing plants and industries and a special fire squad from the Warren post office which was formed at the direction of Postmaster James K. Bell. The rest of the class consists of men from all walks of life, including lawyers, bankers, clerks, plant executives, mechanics, etc.

It was pointed out today that the attendance at the school has been remarkable, considering the number of men who are employed on shift work in local industries and the numerous other activities that have been conducted locally. The average attendance for the entire 10 weeks of the school has been 95 men at each session. Two of the fire squads from local industries and 41 individuals have maintained a perfect record of attendance.

Each week the members of the school received printed copies of the lectures and subjects covered by the instructors and official first aid and auxiliary firemen hand-books.

Some of the subjects covered during the course were: March 10-17—hose, hose lines, nozzles and appliances. March 24—triangle and chemistry of fire, chemical fire extinguishers and first aid fire appliances. March 31—rescue work, rope knots and ladders. April 7—ventilation of fire buildings, salvage and overhauling. April 14—incendiary bombs and the proper control of same. April 21-28 and May 5-10 hours of first aid training by Jasper Shepard and his staff of first aid instructors. May 12—war gases and chemical warfare agents by Lt. VerMilyea.

The examinations to be given at the high school tomorrow night will complete the inside work in classrooms for this group. In the near future an actual demonstration of apparatus and equipment will be conducted for the class and at intervals during the summer the class will be given an opportunity to work with apparatus and equipment for a short period each month.

Any member of this class who is unable to be present on Tuesday evening for the examination may report to Chief Kropf and make arrangements to take the exam in the next week following, it was stated. All examinations must be completed by May 26.

Newsboys Do Part To Help Stamp Sales

That carriers of the Times-Mirror in Warren are doing their part in the sale of U. S. war savings stamps is shown by the fact that they have delivered to their customers more than $3,000 worth of the stamps in the first three months that the plan has been in operation here.

According to Howard Clark, circulation manager, eighteen boys who have regular routes in Warren borough have sold a total of $3,193.90 worth of the stamps, or nearly 32,000 stamps of 10-cent denomination.

As a result of their efforts, the boys have been awarded official badges, as well as silver and gold bars.

Leading the list of carriers is Warren Johnson, who recently left his position as a Times-Mirror paper boy. He had attained his sixth gold bar, having sold $579.90 worth of stamps.

Other Times-Mirror carriers and the value of stamps sold to May 1 are as follows: Robert Couse, $59.70; Paul Morelli, $40.80; Ed Peterson, $192.50; Bill Johnson, $165.80; Tom Offerle, $78.50; Robert Uhr, $304.10; Allen Johnson, $149.80; Robert Scalise, $167.60; Milton Olson, $226.60; Leigh Hall, $287.40; Arthur Juliano, $28.20; Merle Fox, $156.80; Frank Scalise, $133.30; Theodore Woznek, $260.60; Dave Olson, $85.30; Copeland Schmidt, $183.40; Stan Campbell, $84.50.

When Dorothy Schmidt and Sally Maurer will enroll all girls interested in attending camp and distribute camp bulletins.

Aid in Recording War Casualties Is Sought

The Warren Times-Mirror wishes to record each and every war casualty among men in the service from this section, but in order to do so must depend upon the relatives or close friends of those involved.

The U. S. and Navy departments, for obvious reasons, delay issuance of casualty lists to newspapers although they do notify the parents or other relatives by telegram when such casualties occur.

Thus the newspaper must depend on the cooperation of all such parents or relatives to notify it when such telegrams are received. If you learn of any such casualties among our soldiers, sailors or marines, will you please call the Times-Mirror immediately?

KEEPING AMERICAN HOMES HEALTHY and HAPPY

YOU CAN BE A BETTER COOK WHEN YOU USE GAS

85,000,000 Americans use Gas for cooking, water heating, refrigeration or to heat their homes. Of course not all of them use it for all of these purposes, but in one way or another, Gas is doing its part in keeping more than 20,000,000 homes healthy and happy. Little wonder a favorite way of expressing approval over the air on many radio programs is "Now you're Cooking with GAS!" Your gas range is ideally suited to give you the most out of the foods you buy. Today it is more important than ever that the foods you serve your family be nutritious and health-giving.

RED CROSS ANNIVERSARY

May 21 is the 61st anniversary of that mild spring evening when a little group of men and women gathered in Clara Barton's house on Eye street, Washington, and organized what now is the American Red Cross.

Somehow it seems presumptuous to introduce the Red Cross to the American public. Its achievements in the field of applied mercy, its contributions to the alleviation of suffering, in war and in peace, would seem to have publicized this magnificent organization "far above our poor power to add or detract."

And yet, sometimes we take for granted the benefactor who always stands ready with a helping hand. We forget that behind unstinted generosity lies the self-sacrifice of thousands whose glory it is to serve humanity.

In time of peace we think of the Red Cross, most of us, on two occasions. One is when we make a little donation for the annual roll call. The other is when some major disaster—earthquake, flood, famine, explosion—brings into swift play the efficient machinery which has been built up over the 61 years since Clara Barton started the movement in this country.

But today we are reminded of the Red Cross dramatically by what it is doing for our soldiers, sailors and marines.

The Red Cross is sending food and clothing to Americans imprisoned in Italy and Germany, is checking prison camp conditions, is arranging for mail to reach our boys captured by the Japanese.

Already some 600,000 sweaters, socks, mufflers, helmets, sea boots, scarfs and other knitted articles have been shipped to our fighting men. More than 7,000,000 garments have been sent for the relief of war victims.

More than 30,000,000 surgical dressings have been made and sent to Europe, and more than 40,000,000 to our own Army and Navy hospitals.

The Red Cross is operating 18 blood donation centers, seeking to collect 1,250,000 pints of blood for transfusion for the wounded.

It is estimated that of all the men who have passed through our army camps, one out of eight has received assistance from the Red Cross.

These are figures, accurate but neither cold nor hard. They are figures of mercy, made possible because millions have donated money and thousands have given of themselves, in work.

This is not an appeal for money. The Red Cross has no financial drive on now.

This is just a reminder of a very few of the things that the Red Cross, on its 61st birthday, is doing for the relief of distress.

Can you help? Don't be so modest. The Red Cross will need more workers than it ever can hope to obtain.

BE SURE TO VOTE TOMORROW

Tomorrow citizens of Pennsylvania will have an opportunity to go to the polls and select nominees for the important positions of governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of internal affairs, congressman, supreme court, superior court, state senator and assemblyman. Every qualified voter should consider it a duty to exercise his right of franchise on this important occasion.

Primary elections are more important than many persons seem to realize in these times of international disorders. We cannot urge too strongly that every registered voter avail himself of this privilege tomorrow.

A small vote tomorrow will encourage foes of democracy to reason that we care little about the privilege now enjoyed by a very small proportion of the world's population.

A large turnout will serve as an outward demonstration we still believe in the principles of government that have made America the outstanding nation in the world.

His host of friends throughout the county were stunned by news of the unexpected death of Charles Moore at his home in Garland Saturday afternoon. Throughout a long and useful life Charles, as he was affectionately known by all, had contributed much to the industrial and farming activities of the section. To those near and dear to him the community joins in extending heart-felt sympathy in their loss.

WASHINGTON IN WARTIME

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—Weekends are funny in Washington. For the thousands of civilian government workers, quitting time Saturday is the signal to get out of town. Trains and busses for Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York are jammed.

But for the soldiers at Ft. Belvoir and Ft. Myer in Virginia, and for the sailors at Norfolk, Va., and the marines at Quantico, the weekend is the time to come to Washington. They pour out of the busses like peas out of a pod.

THE sad part of the story is that Washington, the nation's capital, doesn't have room for them to sleep. The lucky ones get in at the Y.M.C.A. or one of the service men's clubs. But Saturday night always finds the uncomfortable benches of Union Station lined with wee-begone young men in khaki, blue or marine corps green.

Not that service authorities and private agencies aren't aware of the problem. You don't have to be much of a newspaper reader to know that room of any kind is almost impossible to find in Washington.

Here are some reports from various agencies on a recent Saturday night, when 712 service men found beds, but at least 500 were turned away.

The Army recreation command at Arlington, Va., took care of all the men who applied, 191 of them, but Col. Walter Lang, commanding officer, warned that he couldn't handle any more.

The Soldiers, Sailors and Marines Club accommodated 123 men but turned away 200.

Service men's Club No. 1 had beds for 240 men but it, too, had to refuse about 200.

The G Street Y.M.C.A. slept 50 uniformed men. Thirty more doubled up in chairs or sprawled on the floor or stairways. A hundred went looking elsewhere.

The Y.M.C.A. for colored men had 28 beds available, and 14 men tried chairs and floors.

All Souls Church found room in its parish hall for 25 cots and a private agency was able to find beds in private homes for 11 men.

ONE hope is that more churches will be able to set up temporary sleeping quarters. "It isn't a question of willingness," says Grover Hartman, defense commission chairman of the Washington Federation of Churches. "All the churches are willing. Rather it's a question of the churches having canteens and facilities for the job. I feel there are four or five churches other than All Souls which can pitch in."

There's some indication, too, of a drive to get private residents to open up their homes to one or two boys, for Washington's conscience is bothering her. Is she comforting the stranger within her gates?

MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—There is something ineffably sad and melancholy to a city that has been blacked out. The buildings stand like shadowy tombstones in a country church. If you are far enough away so that you can see, and yet not hear, the loneliness makes you catch your breath. The silence gets into your pores. It makes you think of Coleridge's "As silent as a painted ship upon a painted ocean."

For my part, I stood on a Jersey pier slip and watched the blackout come to New York. The river was a silver ribbon that led straight through the heart of the city. You could hear the waters slapping gently against the pier pilings, and they seemed to murmur, "This is it. . . . This is it. . . ."

THEN the lights began to go out all over the island. They winked out in twos and threes and scores and hundreds. . . . There were sudden ragged rushes of blackness, as though somebody had poured a bottle of ink over Manhattan. Then it was all blacked out and, from the Jersey side at least, you had an etching in black and silver, black from Manhattan and silver from the big "bomber's moon" that flared around for fully fifteen minutes before it hid its face behind some wispy clouds.

But if it was an etching to me, it was something less than this to at least one woman, who ran screaming through the night.

Approximately one out of every five cities in the U. S. over 10,000 population now owns or operates municipal parking lots, mainly to clear business streets for traffic.

Eighty thousand carrier pigeons were used by Great Britain during World War I.

babbling names and places and things that did not add up accurately when the police began to check her statements. She said she had been beaten up. She gave a name, and said she lived at a certain hotel. . . . Then she lapsed into unconsciousness. . . . But at the hotel, no such person was registered. In her purse was a laundry slip that bore an entirely different name. . . . She is in Bellevue hospital now, for observation.

In Columbus Circle, a wise guy played his feet on the sidewalk and lit a cigarette. "Put that out," ordered a cop. "I gotta right to smoke," the man argued.

I don't know how much "right" he had, but I can tell you that this morning he has plenty of "time" to smoke, and to think things over. He's in jail.

IN Times Square, a million people gathered to cheer and skylark at the moon. Never one to mince words, Mayor LaGuardia screamed when he heard about the crowds. "Murder," "suicide," "ridiculous" were the words he used. In London's first raid, 600 people were killed by falling splinters. They gotta keep off the street, in the Times Square area especially," cried Hizzoner. You can imagine what a bomb or a spray of machinegun bullets would do to a million people, packed like sardines in a can.

But Police Commissioner Valente didn't see it that way. He said, "a million people have turned out to see the greatest show on earth."

It is the sunrise of the year. And through her wondrous wide abode. Sprightly spring comes, all silently. To raise her flags along the road. —Eva Jane Smith.

Interesting Items Taken From the Warren Evening Times

In 1922 The estimated majority received by Gifford Pinchot for governor in Tuesday's primary is a body blow to the Republican organization from which it is not likely to recover and the fences are damaged beyond repair.

A concrete mixer was placed in commission at the Bridgehead Park this morning and a force of workmen is engaged in mixing the material for a circular walk which will surround the rest room.

An effort is being made to supply adequate parking places for autos in and near the business section. Market street has been marked laterally from Fourth to Pennsylvania. As this thoroughfare is 100 feet wide, there is ample room for traffic on either side of the parking area.

The Misses Alta and Pearl Lund left last evening for New York City, where they will combine business and pleasure.

The North Warren Leaders added another victory to their list by defeating the North Warren Builders last night at North Warren by a score of 9 to 8. Zibble pitched for the winners and Jewell for the losers.

In 1932 The fortieth anniversary of the instituting of the Warren Lodge of Elks, which occurred during the spring of 1892, will be appropriately celebrated with a class initiation and program at a special meeting Friday of next week.

Top coats and winter wraps were not uncomfortable last evening, and a light frost was reported in many points of the county today.

The many friends of Miss Betty Field, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Field, 100 Fifth avenue, will be interested to learn that she is a member of a dancing troupe that appears in the feature film now showing at a Jamestown theatre, entitled "The Cheat."

Mrs. Harry Yaegle, 129 North South street, exhibited one of the finest baskets of trout of the season. There were eighteen trout, ranging from 6 1/2 to 16 inches.

From where I sit . . .

by Joe Marsh

WHENEVER I hear about anybody having a big family I think of Dad and Ma Hoskins. The Hoskins' had thirteen children.

They weren't a bad bunch of kids, by and large—but it seemed one or the other of them would always be having a fuss with the neighbors, or would break a window playing baseball, or some other kid trick. Kept Dad and Ma mighty busy all the time.

One day Dad got a bright idea. He called the whole family together for a special meeting at the dinner table.

He told them he was tired of checking up on them all the time. He said he thought they were old enough now to check up on themselves. The older children would watch the younger ones. They would have meetings every so often and hand out rewards or punishments.

Well, it was a crazy idea but the kids liked it and they started behaving better than they ever had before. The idea worked and Dad finally did get a little time for himself.

I mention this story about Dad Hoskins because it's something like what I understand the beer industry is doing to regulate itself.

As I see it, most of the beer industry behaves itself perfectly all right . . . but every now and then, I guess, a retailer comes along who runs a place that isn't up to scratch . . . sort of like a wayward kid.

So like Dad Hoskins' family, the brewers and beer distributors have united together in an industry self-regulation program to help the proper authorities "clean up or close up" offending retail places.

The brewers, who want to protect beer's good name, cooperate wisely with the authorities who enforce the laws.

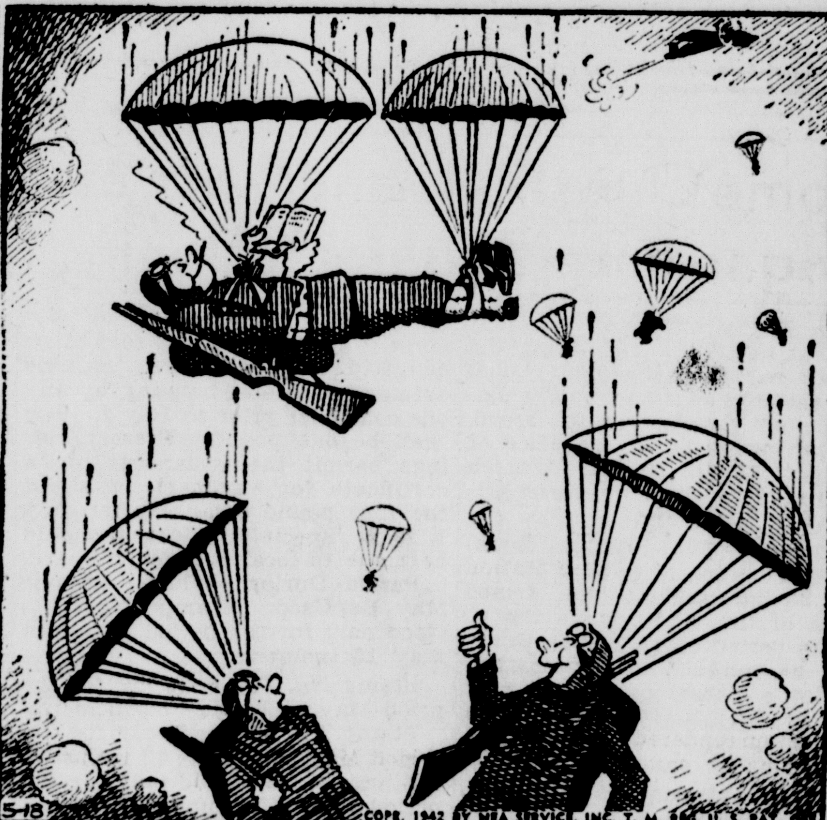

From where I sit, that's a fine thing for the brewers to do . . . particularly when you realize that after all they're really not responsible for retailing conditions.

New Boy Scouts Troop Formed At Washington P.T.A. Meet

Public installation of new Boy Scout Troop 34, a talk by F. H. Hetrick, of Warren, and the annual dinner featured the meeting of the Washington Parent-Teachers Association at Tiona Thursday evening, when Mrs. Hugh McClellan was re-elected president for another year.

Leo Gleese, of Warren, assisted by an investiture team of Scouts from Troop 12, Warren, acted as master of ceremonies in a simple and impressive ceremony, with a special Scout stage setting, during which the following Scouts of new Troop 34, sponsored by the Washington P. T. At the dinner preceding the annual meeting, Scouts of troops 34 and 12, Scouts and committee-men, were honor guests at a special table, which featured an ingenious centerpiece depicting in miniature a Boy Scout camp with tents, small lake, hills and trees. This was arranged by Scoutmaster Vicini and caused much favorable comment.

Following their election at the annual business session, the following officers were formally installed by Mrs. Guy Frick, who has for three years directed the Washington P. T. A. study group: President, Mrs. Hugh McClellan; first vice president, Mrs. Herman Hannold; second vice president, Mrs. Carl Stranburg; third vice president, Mrs. George Aber; historian, Mrs. Ada Logan; treasurer, Gerald Dorrian; auditor, Guy Frick; secretary, Mrs. George Champion. Committees for the ensuing year were appointed by the president, as follows: Refreshment, Mrs. Clark DeGolyea, Mrs. Alice Bean and Mrs. Myrtle Stranburg; hospitality, Melvin Huckabone and Mrs. John Logan; finance, Dirl Champion, George Aber and Melvin Huckabone; membership, Mrs. Twila Bailey and Mrs. Ed. Guyher; publicity, Mrs. Ed. Sherrieb; program, Mrs. Vivien Brennan, Ed. Sherrieb and George Champion.

Prof. Sherrieb congratulated the members of the Washington P. T. A. upon their splendid accomplishments of the past year. The members of the new Scout Troop 34 supplied the abundance of flowers for the occasion.

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR Associated Press Sports Writer

Johnny Rigney, ace of the Chicago White Sox mound staff, will do his future pitching for Uncle Sam, but before he decided to join the Navy Blue he had to win one for the boss.

The boss is Mrs. Johnny Rigney, the former Dorothy Comiskey, treasurer of the White Sox. And Johnny's present to her in his last major league appearance for the duration of the war was a three-hit pitching job against the Washington Senators in the second game of yesterday's doubleheader.

After winning the first game, 7-1, behind the six-hit hurling of Ted Lyons, the White Sox rallied to overcome a three-run deficit and pull the nightcap out of the fire for Rigney, 4-3.

The double victory didn't get the White Sox out of the American League cellar, but it stretched their winning streak to six straight and put them within striking distance of seventh place.

The New York Yankees saved their lead in the American League by gaining an even break with the St. Louis Browns, but the second-place Cleveland Indians sliced the margin to half a game by bumping the Philadelphia Athletics twice.

At St. Louis, a three-run homer by Chet Laabs featured a four-run assault on Charley Ruffing in the first inning of the opening game and the Browns coasted to a 4-2 decision as Eldon Auker limited the World Champions to seven hits.

Atley Donald pitched five-hit ball for the Yanks in the second game and Frank Crosetti's single brought in the run that won it, 3-2, scoring Joe Gordon who had three hits in four times at bat.

Jim Bagby and Al Milnar turned in a pair of sparkling four-hitters for the Cleveland Indians, who downed the Athletics, 4-1 and 9-3.

Jimmy Bloodworth's tenth-inning home run gave the Detroit Tigers a 4-3 victory over the Boston Red Sox in a single game at Detroit.

In the National League, the Brooklyn Dodgers hiked their lead from five games to six and a half, sweeping a twin bill with the Chicago Cubs as the Boston Braves lost to the Cincinnati Reds and the Pittsburgh Pirates split a pair with the Philadelphia Phils.

The Phils kept the Pittsburgh Pirates two percentage points behind the second-place Braves by winning the second game, 5-4, after the Pirates had grabbed the first game, 7-2.

Singles by Danny Litchner, Ernie Koy and Bobby Bragan produced the nightcap's deciding run. Vince DiMaggio led the Pirate attack in the first game with two home runs.

The New York Giants and St. Louis Cardinals divided their double bill to remain deadlocked in fourth place. Carl Hubbell scattered eight hits for a 7-1 decision in the opener, his first triumph of the year, but the Cards came from behind to take the afterpiece, 5-6.

The "masse shot" is used in billiards and is a stroke made by hitting the cue ball vertically, or nearly so.

The finals of the Elks bowling rolloffs continue this evening at 7:30 o'clock, when action resumes between the Times-Mirror and Pileggis, survivors after three gruelling rounds of eliminations.

After the opening three games, of the best four out of seven game series, the Pileggis held a 2-1 edge over the Publishers, but tonight the tables may turn as the newsmen, fresh from a weekend rest and determined to even the count, go after their current leaders.

The Times-Mirror crew won the first game last Friday night by an 842 to 758 count, but fell apart in dropping the final two contests, 756 to 791 and 798 to 837, despite the fact they held an advantage in total pins at the end.

Ray Weigel, a substitute bowler for Pileggis, having spent the season with his own team, led the triumph against the journalists with a 527 total, best in the three-game program Friday, while Ed Lowrey topped the Times-Mirror with 519.

Pileggis held an advantage in Friday night's setto, having had a rest over Thursday evening, during which time the Times-Mirror was proving its right to enter the finals. The T-M sextet bowled four nights in a row last week, a nerve-racking bit of kegling in serious competition.

Pileggis, on the basis of their 2-1 edge in games, reign slight favorites to take the club title, and can clinch it tonight with two of the three games to be rolled.

SPORTS SPATTERINGS

With only seven volunteers contacted on the spur of the moment, and of these actually only four really putting in a full morning's work, considerable progress was made on the infield at Russell Field Sunday morning, and with the full corps of 30 to 40 volunteers the project can be completed before dark tomorrow evening, everyone on hand promptly, etc. There's still a lot of good dirt on the diamond, only the weed situation a major problem, and this can be eliminated in short order. It's going to take cooperation, though, and we've got to have it tomorrow evening. So much for the Sunset League at present.

On with the show, we give you your Monday resume in a nutshell of yesterday's Jamestown-Hamilton PONY League contest. . . Hamilton scored five times in the second, Jamestown three times in the fourth, Hamilton twice in the seventh, the Falcons three times in the eighth and twice in the ninth to win. . . But that hardly tells a thing.

Lyle Parkhurst won the ball game with a one inning relief job which saw him whiff some bitter medicine past three successive batters in the ninth. . . Pat McNair, shortstop, then opened the winning rally for Jamestown, circling the bases on a pair of errors by the third and first basemen for Hamilton after he hit an easy grounder to third. . . Newman then doubled, Elmer Weinschneider was intentionally passed, Greg Muleavy bunted, with everyone safe, Antonio forced Newman at the plate, then Louis Kareka singled to left center, scoring Elmer the Great.

All sounds wonderful, but the whole performance, except for Parkhurst's fine exhibition, looked like something you might expect Ringling Bros., Barnum & Bailey to offer. . . Oh, well, it was an eventful day, to say the least. . . It's Private Sammy Brundis now, and the former local amateur leather pusher, stationed at Miami Beach, Fla., is crazy about the sunshine and ocean breezes down that way. . . Says he'll see us again, "after the duration". . . The Church Softball League opens its summer program tonight, weather permitting, and with six teams entered you can expect a hot race this year. . . So if you are a softball fan, better be over at Beatty Field about 6 p. m. . . Mose Brown, McKeesport's hard-punching light-heavyweight, tangles with Texas Jack Marshall a week from tonight in Smokytown, and on the outcome of this one hinges the future of the colored boy. . . A victory over Marshall merits a title shot June 29 at Pittsburgh against Lesnevich, a loss will throw this chance out the window. . . With Brown, Bobo, Angott, Conn and Zivic, that area of the state down around Pittsburgh, seems to be providing the bulk of the fighters for New York's championship bouts.

Singles Meet New Bowlers Hitting At New Penn Alleys Here

The new Penn Bowling Center, Pennsylvania avenue, east, will be the scene of a Warren county open singles bowling tournament, a 16-game event which expected to start over the coming week-end, it was announced today by Harry Bittenbender, proprietor.

While exact dates and details were not complete today, it was stated that the arrangements are being worked out and by Wednesday the definite dates for the tournament are expected to be announced.

Under the present plans, the event will consist of 16 games to be rolled across the eight alleys at the Penn drives and will be open to any bowler in Warren county. Whether the tournament will be run in two or four shifts has not been decided.

Entry fee for the tournament, it was announced, will be $5.00, with an additional charge of $4.00 for the 16 games of bowling.

In addition to this event, it was announced that two special tournaments will be rolled this week. One of these is a men's doubles event and the other a mixed doubles tournament. Both of these events open this afternoon and close at 6 p. m. next Sunday.

Industrial League Tournament Tonight

The Industrial Bowling League, which circuit concluded one of its most colorful and interesting seasons last week, will stage a special post-season tournament at the Penn Bowling Center, beginning at eight o'clock tonight.

All teams in the circuit are expected to take part in this evening's jackpot tourney, and Bernard Joy, proxy of the loop, today predicted a highly successful affair.

WEEK-END SPORTS REVIEW

By the Associated Press
Fresno, Calif., Harold Davis, University of California star, equaled world record of 09.4 for the 100-yard dash in Fresno relays and Cornelius Warmerdam took pole vault with leap of 15 feet one inch. Southern Cal. won team title with 73 1/2 points.

Chicago—Big Ten athletic directors promised to donate all profits from 1942 football schedule to Army and Navy Relief after taking out only money enough to finance their athletic programs. Ohio State captured conference track crown, its first.

Lincoln—Nebraska annexed fourth consecutive Big Six track title with 82 2-3 points.

Boston—Harvard surprised by taking heptagonal cinder classic while favored Yale finished second.

Church Loop Opens Season This Evening

They blow the lid off the Church Softball League tonight at six o'clock at Beatty Field when the Grace Methodist and Men's Club teams inaugurate the 1942 season. With a six-team circuit this year, the Church loop promises to produce one of the most exciting races in the past five years, and with each team an enthusiastic member of the loop, fans are assured fine entertainment through the whole program.

Two other games are on this week's card, the First Methodists facing the First Lutherans tomorrow evening, and the First Baptists mixing with the Beatty A. C. Thursday night, both games also on Beatty Field, beginning at the same time as tonight's initial tilt.

NUMMY ROLLS HIGH AVERAGE IN INDUSTRIAL

Nummy Wooster, with an average of 188 over 96 games, captured individual laurels in the Arcade Industrial Bowling League during the past season, according to the list of averages released today by Thad Lawson, proprietor of the Arcade Recreation Alleys.

Second to Wooster, and only two pins, on the average, behind him, was Mike Bleach, who rolled in 99 games for 186.

Only Industrial League bowler to participate in all of the 105 games scheduled per team, was Bernard Joy, president of the loop and recently re-elected to serve again next year, and member of the Times-Mirror team.

Second Sunset League Meet Tonight at 7:30; Managers Especially Asked To Attend

All Sunset League baseball managers are especially asked to attend tonight's second meeting for the organization of the loop, which will be held in the Times-Mirror editorial rooms, and it is requested that if the pilots themselves cannot attend the session, that they appoint a team member to represent the club as tonight's get-together is of special importance.

The league is calling on every player interested in playing ball this summer and not yet affiliated with a club, to also attend as the organization of a sixth team will be started, and details concerning the same will be discussed.

Loop officials plan an all-out effort for players and managers Tuesday night at which time the Russell Field infield project will be continued, it having been started over the weekend by a skeleton crew of workers.

The small group that pulled the first weeds Sunday in what has become a sorry excuse for a baseball diamond were elated over the fact, however, that there is more good loam still on the infield than has been estimated, and the major problem for re-establishing a good diamond lies in the work of clearing away clumps of grass that have taken possession of the ground in the three idle years since the Sunset League last operated.

With a squad of from 30 to 40 willing and ambitious players and fans, the work can be completed in about two hours, with only the jobs of having it dragged and rolled existing.

A complete account concerning the condition of the playing field will be given at this evening's meeting, and the loop confidently expects the needed co-operation to complete the project, which was well started by the skeleton crew. If you're interested in baseball, then, be on hand at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

The flying snake is found only in Java and Malaysia.

UNFAIR TO LOVE

By Watkins E. Wright

Yesterday, Joe Neely has picked Kathleen Vaughn because Kathleen has postponed their wedding in order to try for a part in the summer theater company which has rented her barn. "I'm not going to get Joe, and his placard of the street, he asked him to breakfast, and much to Joe's annoyance, somebody has telephoned Kathleen, and she is very obviously delighted.

"And he probably gets just as tired hearing you talk about the future," Joe retorted.

Lizzie brought Kathleen's breakfast. She gave the two young people a searching look, and was worried. It certainly didn't look to her like they were getting anywhere at all romantically. She went back to the kitchen, slowly shaking her head.

"Of course you know I was counting on taking you to the Country Club Saturday night," said Joe.

"Don't tell me you're going!" said Kathleen.

"I've got to," Joe said. "The editor wants me to attend the reception since I'm to do reviews of the plays. He thinks the Chamber of Commerce's reception to the actors and actresses will give me a good chance to get acquainted."

"And you really thought of taking me—a stage-struck little country girl?"

"Sure, can't think of anyone else I would rather take."

"Oh, there're other girls in Linville," said Kathleen, turning to her breakfast. "Girls who think the peak of happiness would be keeping house for a man like you."

"Thanks."

"Besides," Kathleen went on, "how can you do your picketing, if you go to the dance?"

"I'd be willing to drop that for the evening," Joe answered. "I won't have to picket—when I've got you in my arms."

"In your—what?"

"Arms. Dancing. I mean," Joe leaned across the table. "Is it all settled—you going with DeMille?"

"Naturally."

"I see. Mind if I cut in now and then?"

"Certainly not. Only don't make an idiot of yourself, please if Fred DeMille and Paul Pennell break in on you."

"Oh, so you're counting on the leading man, too?"

"Of course, Paul Pennell has been very friendly toward me. I suppose you think that means he's dreaming of having you for his next leading lady."

"Maybe."

The Boss Calls

LIZZIE came in again. "Mr. Joe," she said, "somebody wants you on the telephone now."

"Me?" said Joe. He jumped up. "Excuse me, honey," he said to Kathleen, giving her a quick kiss on top of the head as he passed.

It was the editor of the Linville Gazette calling.

"What's this I hear about you making a fool of yourself out there on Elm Street?" he said.

"You you mean someone told you?" Joe stammered. "Gosh, news sure does spread fast in this town."

"No thanks to you," the editor snapped. "One of the printers just came in and told me he saw you marching back and forth in front of the Vaughn residence."

"Yes, sir, I—I just—that is, I—"

"Well, you get down here to the office at once," the editor cut in. "I hired you to write news, not make it."

"Yes, sir," said Joe.

Two receivers clicked back into their hooks.

Joe went back to the dining room feeling decidedly foolish.

Kathleen looked up. "Must have been bad news," she remarked, "judging from the look on your face."

"Was the boss," said Joe. "One of the darn-fool printers told him about me—and the picketing."

"You didn't expect to keep it a secret, did you?" Kathleen asked.

"No, only—oh, heck, forget it!" Joe stepped to Kathleen's side. "I'll see you Saturday night if not before."

"Very well. I hope the boss won't be too hard on you."

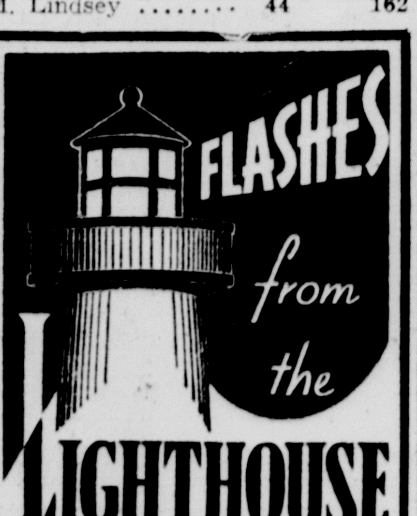

"Oh, he won't!" said Joe, but not with too much assurance. "And listen, Kathleen—don't believe all that man tells you."

"What man?"

"Fred DeMille."

"Don't be silly. I wasn't born yesterday," Kathleen pushed back her chair. "You'd better hurry. You're awfully late already."

To be continued

We are proud to announce that our three standbys, Paul Wagner, Gene Mascaro and Bob Dahler, have successfully completed the Advanced First Aid Course of the American Red Cross under the supervision of Jasper Shepard. This will allow the establishment of a Red Cross First Aid Station at The Motor Lighthouse, the first in the County, we are informed. So we're doubly proud.

Books Presented Library In Memory of School Instructor

Books presented in memory of Miss Bessie Johnson are now on display at the public library. These books are testimonials of the esteem in which Miss Johnson was held in the community and have been selected particularly with regard to her own tastes and interests.

Her interest in the visual arts for children has been remembered in the presentation of two outstanding new art books. "Pictures to Grow Up With" by Katharine Gibbons is a notable contribution to art appreciation for children. Its fine reproductions of some of the best known works and pleasing, simple commentary make it a book a child should enjoy growing up with. The American Artist and His Times by Homer Saint-Gaudens, director of the Department of Fine Arts at Carnegie Institute, fully deserves the acclaim it has received. It covers representative painters of the 270-year span of our art history, particularly stressing the artist's relation to his times. Mr. Saint-Gaudens' kindly wit, judgment and gracious literary style make the reading of this book an excursion of real enjoyment.

The children's room collection has been enriched with the presentation of three of Randolph Caldecott's famous picture books. Randolph Caldecott is the English illustrator who, with Walter Crane and Kate Greenaway, began a new era of picture books for children. From among the modern triumphs of book-making for children, these picture books have not been forgotten. Their beauty of line, clear color and amusing, spirited drama make them still irresistible.

The Children's Anthology is a charming collection of verse and prose edited by William Lyons Phelps. It is the first complete grown-up's anthology about children and is a worthy successor to the companion volume, The Mothers' Anthology. Frankly sentimental in appeal, it avoids the saccharine, and is gratifying in its comprehensiveness and literary quality.

The new Oxford Dictionary of Quotations, compiled by a group of experts on the staff of the Oxford University Press, is acknowledged as one of the best of its kind. The introduction by Carl Van Doren is a delightful and penetrating essay on what quotations really are and how they have come to be an accepted device in the art of human expression.

Appearing without fanfare or warning, Edgar Allan Poe, a new critical biography by Arthur Hobson Quinn, has been highly praised for its fine scholarship and lucid presentation. New and more kindly interpretations of "America's most maligned and most misunderstood poet" seem justified by the evidence Mr. Quinn presents from his exhaustive research in the Poe family archives. It is a careful, honest and full-bodied biography.

Youth and The Future is the general report of the American Youth Commission of the American Council on Education. In the words of Owen Young, chairman, in the introduction, the commission has sought to prepare "a program based on the experience of the past, adjusted to the harsh realities of the present and adequate to foreseeable needs of the future." It is an ambitious aim, but they have provided invaluable perspective on immediate and urgent problems and suggestions for a long-range program for youth.

Medical Science Leads the Way in BETTER HEALTH PROGRAMS

The prime object of the modern public health movement is not merely survival, but more power, more efficiency, better living conditions, better health through education and preventive measures.

Preventing people from dying, as the doctor's chief function, has evolved into earnest, unceasing efforts toward keeping people from being sick at all. Medical men throughout the world are constantly working toward that end.

In 1902, Dr. L. F. Flick of Philadelphia established a society for the prevention of tuberculosis, which was the first open recognition, anywhere, that of the public health, as well as that of the private physician. In 1903 a national society was organized to combat venereal disease. In 1909 societies for preventing infant mortality and promoting mental hygiene; in 1913 one for controlling cancer; in 1915 another for the prevention and relief of heart disease.

The public health program is based on a broad program of adult education, through the use of newspapers, health department bulletins, literature from the various societies, radio talks, lectures, exhibits, moving pictures, public health nurses, intensive visits and similar activities of the public health physician.

The foundation of effective health teaching was laid in the schools by Dr. L. Emmett Holt in 1918. Study of physiology has been augmented by a vital program of health habits; physical education is being taught in practically every school in the nation; school physicians, dentists and nurses are the rule instead of the exception. The average school child knows much more about the fundamentals of health than his grandfather did 20 years ago.

Many Attend Defense Meet

A good turnout of 20 of the 26 members was welcomed at the regular meeting of the Warren County Defense Council, held at the council headquarters last Friday evening.

The group authorized the appointment of Forrest Waite as U. S. Civilian Defense Corps director of the control center for Warren county.

The council also appointed a committee on rules and regulations comprised of Ray Steber, chairman; James K. Bell, and C. Ostergard, with Allen M. Gibson, chairman of the Warren County Defense Council, and the chairmen of the four local defense councils, Frank Handeyside, Sheffield; Isadore Schnell, Youngville; W. C. Tompsett, Tidouette; and F. A. Schoonover, Sugar Grove, acting as ex-officio members.

The rules and regulations adopted by the county council of defense upon approval of the state defense council have the same force and effect under the state's Air-Raid Precaution Act as the provisions of the act itself, it was stated.

Woman Held As An Alleged Bootlegger

As a result of an investigation that has been under way for some time by District Attorney J. H. Goldstein, information was filed today against Mrs. Bertha Phillips, of Russell, charging violations of the liquor control act as well as the beverage license law. Two representatives of the Erie Enforcement district, of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board, who secured the evidence that resulted in the arrest, stated that Mrs. Phillips would be arraigned before justice of the Peace Richard Evans during the afternoon.

The special agents stated that several other places in the county are under observation and further arrests may be expected if the offenders continue in the business of illegal sale of liquor. The investigators commended District Attorney Goldstein for bringing the case to their attention, and spoke in high praise over the manner in which the investigation was conducted preliminary to the time when they were called in.

Before entering congress, Boland was a member of the firm of Bland Brothers, general contractors, and had served in several local elective offices. His father, Christopher T. Boland, also was a prominent Scranton contractor.

Boland was twice married. His second wife, who survives, was his former secretary, Miss Veronica Barrett. His first wife died several years ago.

In addition to his widow, he is survived by seven children, six brothers and two sisters.

The children are John and Christopher, both in the armed services; Dr. Francis Boland, Scranton dentist; Patrick, Jr., Paul, Ellen and Mrs. Timothy Moran, wife of a Scranton physician.

The brothers and sisters are Major Martin F. Boland, formerly of the 10th Infantry regiment and now stationed at Indiantown Gap; Joseph, Christopher, Charles, George and Mrs. Leo Dougher, of Detroit, Mich. James and Catherine Boland, both of Los Angeles.

The Frazier-Lemke farm moratorium bill. The Royal Oak priest spoke in Boland's district in an effort to beat him, but the congressman won handsily.

Washington, May 18.—(P)—President Roosevelt learned from Speaker Rayburn today of the death of Representative Boland (D-Pa.), the house Democratic whip, and Presidential Secretary Stephen Early said it was a "very distressing piece of news for the president," adding "he was very fond of Pat."

Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the house ways and means committee, said Boland's death was "a great loss to the committee, to congress and to the country."

Flags on the capitol and senate and house office buildings were at half-staff and the house was expected to adjourn today after a brief session, at which Majority Floor Leader McCormack planned to pay tribute to Boland.

Postmaster General Frank C. Walker, a resident of Scranton, Boland's home city, was in New York but his office said he might go to Boland's home instead of returning to Washington.

American Newspapermen Tell Conditions in Axis Countries

creeping steadily into the Axis armed forces whose task it will be to combat Allied invasion of the continent.

The most unmistakable point of all these accounts is that the utter weariness of the plain German and Italian people with the war they did not want, and their overwhelming yearning for almost any kind of peace.

How little patriotic fervor is left to most of the Axis folk can be read in the dozens of instances which the American correspondents cite of the scheming to defeat the ration rules, the mushroom growth of black markets and the sinister rise of special privilege.

There is a real lesson in that, incidentally, for Americans now immersed in the first complications of the ration card.

There also is a plain warning to the Allied peoples of what to expect from the Axis rulers as an inevitable consequence of the present attitude of the populations which they must, at all costs, attempt to hold in line.

"Peace," one story today from an Associated Press correspondent just arrived in Lisbon, "is the straw which the Nazis are holding out for the nation to clutch."

That, therefore, is the thing to remember as the Axis "peace" offensives flicker and fade, as they are bound to do in coming months.

No longer able to convince Germans and Italians that the decisive military victory is just around the corner, the Nazi rulers will find it imperative henceforth to keep somewhere on the horizon of their darkened nations the elusive mirage of an early peace—the peace of a stalemate.

That these desperate efforts will be merely mirages, completely devoid of substance or sincerity, there can be no doubt at all.

It will be increasingly important that Americans, and their allies too, quickly recognize them as such.

SATURDAY IS GREAT DAY AT WRIGHT STORE

Saturday was one of the greatest days in the history of Metzger-Wright's in point of customers and of sales. Hundreds from Warren and the surrounding communities took advantage of the many exceptional values to be found at its 46th Anniversary Sale, which comes every year at Lilac Time.

Much interest was shown this year in the Lilac Tournament and by noon Saturday so many gorgeous bouquets had been entered in the contest that it was exceptionally difficult for the judges to make a choice. Those whose entries were chosen as the best in the class and who will receive $5 in merchandise or $3 in cash are:

Mrs. Josephine Thelin, for the largest bunch of purple lilacs; Harry Miller, most attractive arrangement of all purple lilacs; Mrs. Leslie Wolf, most attractive arrangement of purple with white lilacs; Mrs. Frances Hagerman, most attractive arrangement of lilacs with other flowers. It was decided to give a special child's prize of $1 to Marilyn Fleming for her entry, which was an old-fashioned doll cart with a doll holding a corsage of purple lilacs.

Many received their cash purchases free on both Friday and Saturday. Friday winners were: Mrs. Merle Fellows, Akeley; Floyd T. Peck, Clarendon Heights; Miss Helen Fleming, Youngsville; Mrs. Mary Fitzgerald, Youngsville; Mrs. Lynn Burgett, Russell; Mrs. L. C. Stickle, Mrs. Marvin Pasinger and Mrs. Olga Hubberg, of Warren.

Bell, Mrs. Guy Lowney, Theodore Baldensperger, Miss Lillian Blomwell, Miss Helen Smosna, Mrs. John Dahler, Miss Evelyn Olson, Mrs. Leonora Anderson, Miss Gladys Judd, Mrs. R. E. These purchases included dresses, draperies, shoes, shampoos and wave set and many other. During this week, every 46th cash purchase will be given to the customer free. No one claimed the $25 war bond which was to have been given away Saturday to the person holding the right number, which was posted on the third floor in the sportswear department.

As the 46th anniversary of Metzger-Wright's goes into its second week, it is expected that many more will take advantage of this great sale which comes every year at Lilac Time.

Students Being Enrolled To Supply Labor For Farmers

High school students over 14 years of age are being registered by the United States Employment Service as part of its drive to supply necessary farm labor to agricultural employers this year. It was announced today by Mr. Levine, manager of the Warren office of the United States Employment Service.

"The goals set up in the Food for Victory program will require a tremendous increase in production by America's farmers," Mr. Levine declared. "Many farmers are faced with a serious labor problem, since this increased crop production is called for at the same time that thousands of men are being inducted into military service. The United States Employment Service will see to it that every available worker, whether man, woman or child, can be utilized to meet the need for farm labor."

The Employment Service has set up a special farm placement section, with a farm placement representative in every local office, to concentrate upon the employment problem of farm workers and farm employers. Mr. Levine said. For their part, farm employers can help to solve the problem by informing their local United States Employment office of their labor needs as accurately as possible and as far in advance as possible. Mr. Levine added. Many United States Employment offices are sending questionnaires to all agricultural growers asking for this information. It is important that farmers receiving these questionnaires should fill them out fully and return them promptly to the Employment Service.

The registration of school children is part of the comprehensive program being carried out by the Employment Service to survey every possible source of labor in the community, including women, older workers, handicapped, minority groups, and others not normally part of the farm labor market. Mr. Levine explained. Every effort will be made to meet farm labor needs with qualified, experienced farm help, but when such persons are not available, the other sources of labor will be tapped so that the foodstuffs so vitally needed by our own country and the other United Nations will be produced.

Mr. Levine emphasized that the younger children will not be called upon except in cases of extreme emergency, and that all children referred to farm jobs will have their health and welfare carefully safeguarded.

William Conway, R. D. 2, Pleasantville; Herman E. Forness, R. D. 2, Emporium; William A. Hamilton, Erie; Stanley P. Nogacki, R. D. 1, Punksutawney; Harold L. Reed, Rouseville, and Orville M. Street, Corry.

Army Reports Many Dead In Philippines

Although none from Warren was included, several from this section are among 36 Pennsylvania soldiers listed today by the War Department as killed in action or died of wounds in the Philippine Islands, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Washington today.

The 36 were included in a list of 118, including 15 officers and 103 enlisted men, which the War Department said was a partial accounting of those who met death in the Philippines.

Those from this section include

UNCLE EF

Whatever little quiet we may have been enjoying recently must have been due to the silence of Mrs. Roosevelt. But now she seems to be making speeches again, and being just as glib as ever, what she has to say seems always to raise a din. We must remember, however, that she took a course in public speaking a few years ago, so I suppose she feels she has to keep on saying something or she won't realize on her investment.

5 Days More of Lilac Time

5 days of our 46th Anniversary Sale are gone.

There are 5 days more to go.

More beautiful than in a score of years have been this year's lilacs in Warren County.

More interesting and successful than in years has been Metzger-Wright's Lilac Time event, the Anniversary Sale.

But 5 days are not very many, and Saturday of this week will see the closing of the Sale. Therefore, we urge you to shop as early in the week as possible for the exceptional bargains prepared for you. They are here in full measure, on every floor and in every department.

Remember, there will not be another Anniversary Sale for a full twelvemonth. Present prices will be in effect for 5 more days only, the balance of this week. You will be well repaid to shop every day of the 5... for yourself, for your family, and for your home.

Home Economics News

Prepare Now for Busy Canning Season Ahead

"The early bird catches the worm" may come true this year if Warren county homemakers are ready when the canning season begins. Being ready and starting early means having a wide variety of foods and a well stocked cupboard for next winter's meals.

To be ready, let's start now to check our canning equipment, suggests Mrs. Thelma Prendergast, the home economics extension representative. If you have a pressure cooker, look it over. Is the petcock clean and working? Is the safety valve free of grease and food particles so that it will open to release steam if necessary?

Check the pressure gauge to see that it registers correctly. If it does not, remove the gauge from the cooker and return it to the factory for repair.

If the pressure cooker has developed a bad odor, slice either a lemon or an unpeeled potato and put into the cooker. Add water until there is an inch in the kettle. Cook at 5 pounds pressure for 10 minutes. When the cooker is not in use, leave the cover ajar or off entirely.

For water bath equipment, check the kettle to see that it is free from leaks and that the cover fits tight. Also see that you have a rack on which to set the jars.

Mrs. Prendergast says it is wise to check the other equipment necessary for canning. This includes measuring spoons and cups, a quart measure, large wooden cooking spoons and forks, paring knives, jar filler or funnel, jar lifter, a large kettle for blanching, a strainer, cheesecloth, salt, or sugar bag for blanching. Dish pans, extra kettles, and a chopping board are useful when canning in quantity.

Good jars are essential for successful canning, she points out. Assemble the jars that can be used for vegetables, fruits and meats in one place. Check the sealing surface—both the cover and the edge of the jar for cracks, nicks or chips. If damaged in any way, you can use them for pickles, jams, jellies dried and salted foods. If you have jars with wire balls, check the balls and adjust if necessary. Clean jars now make less work on canning day.

Sugar Grove

Sugar Grove, May 13—The May meeting of the P. T. A. was held in the auditorium Monday night. Mrs. Hilding Nelson presided at the business meeting. Mrs. Roy Briggs, chairman of the religious instruction program, reported the committee appointed as Rev. Wallace Johnson, Miss Lillian Landin and Rev. Carl Perrin. Mrs. Nelson announced the banquet arranged for the basketball teams. The mothers of the team members will provide the banquet, with the P. T. A. buying the meat.

Mrs. John Anderson gave the report of the nominating committee and the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Anderson; vice president, Mrs. Jesse Thompson; secretary, Mrs. Patmore, and treasurer, Mrs. Sanders.

Two one-act plays were presented by the school. The freshmen class presented "Not Quite Such a Goose", directed by Mr. Carlson, with the following cast: Helen Anderson, Charles Wright, Betty Phillips, Donald Frank and Evelyn Hodges. Members of the senior class presented "Forbidden", directed by Miss Kessler, with parts being taken by Pearl Curtis, Mary Nelson, Gerald Kelley, Allan Lake and Donald Haggerty.

Miss Mary Hamilton and Mrs. Clarence White entertained the Tidy Company Class at the Eighteenth home Tuesday evening. Devotions were conducted by Mrs. Agnes Abbott and Mrs. Carl Perrin, with Mrs. White acting as pianist. Mrs. Abbott also conducted the business meeting. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostesses.

The Hill and Dale Garden Club will conduct their annual plant sale at Haggerty's store next Tuesday afternoon at one o'clock.

Much interest is being shown in the evangelistic services being conducted by the George Dibble party at the Methodist church. Three services are held daily at the church—for the younger children immediately after school, the young people at seven o'clock and the evening service at 7:45. Two cottage prayer meetings each morning.

Sheriff W. C. Stuart placed a thousand fingerling trout from the state hatchery in the local creeks Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Harriet Morrison has returned home from spending the winter in St. Petersburg, Fla.

visiting her sister, Mrs. Ida Woodin, a few days, has returned Westfield and will soon leave for Yonkers to stay with her daughter for a time.
